

TRADE MOVEMENTS IN UNITED STATES

Statistical Statement Prepared by Treasury Department.

TRAFFIC ON GREAT LAKES

Coastwise Commerce on the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts on the Increase—Large Movements of Cotton From Texas and Other Southern States.

The February summary of internal commerce, issued by the Treasury Bureau of Statistics, reports the progress of trade movements in the different parts of the United States for the first two months of the calendar year. These figures are gathered through the co-operation of the commercial organizations, trade periodicals, and transportation companies, and present from month to month records in comparison with the corresponding period for the preceding year.

The receipts of wheat, for example, at the four leading spring wheat markets for the seven months of the crop year ending with March 1, 1930, were 144,892,226 bushels, compared with 167,759,827 bushels for the corresponding period of the preceding year. This increase has given a decidedly stronger impulse to traffic and values throughout the entire Northwest, where a return to good harvests has stimulated immigration to an extraordinary extent.

At the four winter wheat markets the condition is reversed. Receipts for the first eight months of the crop year ending with March 1, 1930, were 40,432,520 bushels, compared with 57,599,542 bushels in 1929. The output of four and five months of the crop year ending with March 1, 1930, shows a total of 2,504,465 barrels, compared with 2,250,260 barrels for the corresponding period of 1929, and 2,852,714 barrels in 1928. The average shipments per week thus far this year have amounted to 252,301 barrels, compared with 244,457 barrels in 1929, and 250,844 barrels in 1928. The Northwestern trade of wheat in store at Minneapolis and Duluth show that Minneapolis reached its maximum in the week ending with January 25, while the stocks at Duluth still continue to accumulate, awaiting the opening of lake navigation.

Movement of Live Stock.
The traffic movement of livestock at five Western markets—Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, and St. Joseph—falls behind that of the preceding two years. For February, 1930, those markets received 41,387 cars; for 1929, 41,923 cars; and for 1928, 42,999 cars. The number of arrivals, however, for the two months ending with February continued to exceed those of the preceding two years. The arrivals of cattle, hogs, sheep, horses, and mules aggregated 5,617,276 head, compared with 5,469,148 head last year, and 5,114,556 head the preceding year.

The average weight of hogs received at Chicago for February of this year was sixteen pounds lighter than for February, 1929. For the two months ending with February this year's live stock receipts at Chicago amounted to 2,900 carloads more than for the corresponding period of last year.

Trading at Omaha.
At Omaha receipts declined, but shipments and local consumption have been considerably enlarged over last year. At this market the average weight of hogs has fallen off 20 pounds compared with February, 1929. Receipts and shipments at St. Louis bear out the same general conclusion, both for February and for the two months ending with February. At St. Joseph, however, an advancing tendency is still in control of receipts for February and of receipts and shipments for the two months ending with February.

The Great Lakes.
On the Great Lakes there are signs of an early opening of traffic. The bureau's reports of winter traffic show that 190,106 tons were handled, mostly in trans-lake business, during February of this year, as compared with 168,332 tons during February, 1929. For the first two months of this year the freight carried was 362,425 tons, compared with 285,782 tons in 1929. There were 1,235 arrivals of vessels representing a registered tonnage of 1,152,099 tons at 24 different ports participating in winter traffic.

Atlantic Coast Ports.
In coastwise commerce on the Atlantic and Gulf ports one prominent feature is the carrying of coal by large liners and schooners to Boston from Middle Atlantic ports of distribution. During February domestic coastwise receipts were 224,634 tons out of total receipts amounting to 288,182 tons. Receipts and shipments of merchandise between New York and New England ports are given for nine leading points on the Eastern coast. From New York four leading coast companies report January shipments of 347,754 tons to the six specified destinations, mostly on the New England coast. Reports of part of the movement from Philadelphia for January give a total of 177,583 tons. During January a total of 552 vessels, the coasting trade arrived at Baltimore, representing a registered tonnage of 47,218 tons. During February 419 coasting vessels arrived at New York.

In Southern Territory.
In Southern territory the cotton movement for six months ending February, 1930, reached a total of 8,661,664 bales, of which 2,647,210 bales came from Texas territory, including Indian Territory; 2,753,838 from the other Gulf States; and 2,660,616 bales from the Atlantic coast. The grain movement toward the Gulf is best measured by the total clearances of corn, wheat, and oats from Galveston and New Orleans. For the first eight months of the current fiscal year these two ports contributed to export withdrawals 26,443,560 bushels, compared with 25,696,572 bushels for the corresponding period of the preceding year. The shipments of pig iron and cast iron pipe in Southern territory for February amounted to 18,348 tons, only 400 tons of which passed into export trade. The receipts of leaf tobacco at eight Southern markets during February were the smallest in three years.
